

Please read the bylaws regarding committees in the society. Our standing committees are essential, and nutshell reminders are:

1. Program Committee arranges suitable entertainment and educational programs;
2. Finance Committee oversees our annual and long-range financial relationships;
3. Membership Committee assure effectives membership drives and procedures;
4. Publications Committee use all forms of communications to keep members involved;
5. Nominating Committee promotes awareness of the unique talents within our society;
6. Collection Committee oversees collecting and preserving our archives and artifacts;
7. Exhibits Committee coordinates displays and exhibits throughout the Gilboa Museum;
8. Fundraising Committee promotes activities for patrons with a broad range of interests;
9. Facilities Committee oversees maintenance of our buildings, kiosks, and grounds;
10. Museum Committee oversees public use and staffing of the Gilboa Museum
11. Marketing Committee develops an effective and consistent marketing campaign.

Please let us know if you have talents or interest in any of these areas—we need your help and both the Gilboa area and the Museum could really benefit from your help!

As important as these committees are, our strength will also be found in small groups of people with a common interest—1, 2, or 3 people who have an interest in a specific topic can get together and create a display for the museum, or can validate a particular area in Gilboa where a notable event occurred and we can arrange for installation of an historic marker.

- Let us know about your special interest;
- Do you live in a house or on a farm with a history—we'd love to hear it;
- A win-win is when you have vintage clothing and need information on preservation;
- Geneology always has two sides: the history of an interesting family, and the techniques you used to uncover all those the facts;
- Physical artifacts (a music box, typewriter, tools) have multigenerational interest;
- Scrapbooks may often be restored, easily scanned, and of really great interest;
- Please let us know your stories so we can expand this list!
